MARIO BUATTA: BORN COLLECTOR

BY EMILY EVANS EERDMANS

Captured on the pages of these two volumes is what Mario Buatta called the scrapbook of his life. Here are pieces that traveled with him from as early as his first apartment in the early 1960s, such as his beloved “Floral Bouquet” living room curtains whose length he continued to augment as he moved, to objects that belonged to his design idols and inspirations Nancy Lancaster and Mrs. Henry “Sister” Parish II. He spent over fifty years creating this collection which, until now, has been hidden away and never fully comprehended in its impressive scale and quality.

In the book we wrote together on his remarkable career, Mario reflected, “I don’t buy for investment. I always tell clients, ‘Buy something because you like it or you need it.’ To me, an investment is stocks, bonds, or real estate. I’d rather look at a pair of candlesticks, a mirror, or a painting that gives me pleasure. That’s the return I get. Everything I have may be old, but I love it all. It’s the prose and poetry in my life.”

Mario was one of America’s most renowned and beloved interior designers of the twentieth century. Dubbed “the Prince of Chintz” by a local news reporter in the mid-1980’s, the decorator embraced what he called the “collected” interior. “A house should grow in the same way that an artist’s painting grows. A few dabs today, a few more tomorrow and the rest when the spirit moves you. When the painting is completed (as no room ever should be), it never reflects the artist’s original conception,” he observed. His voluptuous rooms layered fine antiques, confectionary curtains, and sublime colorations, creating an atmosphere of lived-in opulence.

A flair for publicity saw Mario embracing this royal moniker, appearing almost instantly around town in custom chintz suits and chintz cowboy hats. He was the ultimate showman, always pulling pranks and wanting to make us laugh. Behind this light-hearted persona who made everything look effortless was an extraordinary and indefatigable talent who ran his business essentially single-handedly and with a steel-trap mind. He approached his collecting, from penwork to porcelain vegetable tureens, just as seriously and voraciously.

Mario was born on October 20, 1935 to Olive Destefani and Felix Buatta, a violinist and bandleader at the Savoy-Plaza Hotel. His maternal grandfather built each of his daughters a red brick Tudor-style house just blocks apart, and Mario could often be found down the street at his Aunt Mary’s. She, like the fictional Auntie Mame, was a larger than life character constantly redecorating. From the earliest moment, a young Mario began rearranging furniture.

Higher education didn’t enthrall. Mario began studying architecture at the prestigious Cooper Union, but dropped out just months later upon his mother’s death in 1958. It was while working in home furnishings at the department store B. Altman that interior designer Albert Hadley urged him to apply for the Parsons Summer School program in Europe. He took a year to save up, supplementing his salary cleaning the eccentric design doyenne Rose Cumming’s townhouse on Saturdays along with Hadley and other future design legends Mark Hampton and Tom Britt. In June 1961 he embarked on the European tour, and saw his first English country house. A lifelong love of traveling to Europe, especially to England and Sweden, to see stately homes commenced. He recalled, “My [first] trip to Europe, and particularly to England, was a revelation. There I discovered the true English country house style:

effortless and without forethought. Those houses and their collections had been added to, built up slowly for generations, and their continuous use for centuries had given them a special aura, a patina all their own which any decorator would find hard to duplicate.”

The so-called English country house style was actually an American invention. The Virginian Nancy Lancaster, née Perkins, in tandem with her business partner John Fowler, is credited with infusing the noble architecture of an English Palladian pile with the comfort of which Americans are particularly fond, such as en suite bathrooms which were further furnished as sitting rooms with soft carpet underfoot and seating. This Anglo-American fusion of stately and livable appealed wildly to a young Mario, who had grown up, by his own account, in an all-white Deco house where the living room – more a “dead room” he would say – was off-limits so that the vacuum tracks might not get disturbed.

It was around 1962 when Mario first laid eyes on a room that would change the course of his life. In the 1950s, a newly divorced Lancaster took residence in London at Avery Row where she furnished her double-height “buttah yellor living room” (read with a Southern drawl) with antiques and pictures, many magnificently scaled, from her previous country houses. When Mario saw a photograph of this room, in his own words, “It just knocked my eyes out.” He would later acquire a pair of Venetian silvered glass mirrors from that very room (lot 497) as well as pieces from each of her other English houses.

In 1963, Mario made his first pilgrimage to Avery Row and found himself standing outside of Colefax & Fowler in front of a man wearing the exact same pocket square he was sporting. It was John Fowler himself who found Mario’s enormous enthusiasm and evident ability beguiling. They formed a mentorship and friendship that lasted until Fowler’s death in 1977. Fowler’s philosophy of humble elegance guided Mario’s developing aesthetic. “John Fowler taught me restraint. He said if you get grand on one thing, play it down on the next three.”

It may be said that Mario Buatta’s exuberant and romantic version of the English country house style defined an era in American design history. With the country swept up in Anglomania ignited by the wedding of Charles and Diana and the television series Brideshead Revisited at the dawn of the 1980s, Buatta’s interiors, honed already for nearly twenty years, placed him at the forefront of taste.

No matter the decade, a Mario Buatta interior is glamorous, grand and joyful – in spades. He did everything with gusto and generosity – from swashbuckling curtains to shopping – why buy one when you can buy ten? Hollywood glamour surrounded him growing up with a father in show business and his aunt Mary often taking him crooner the Buatta family maternal aunt to see the slickly stylish films of the 1940s where she would sketch the costumes for her dressmaker to replicate. Giving his clients a silver screen worthy backdrop against which to live was essential to his ethos. The backdrop should express and enhance who they are and who they wanted to be, but just as importantly this backdrop should also have at least a kernel of who the client was and came from. Unlike some, Mario loved to raid a client's attic and include family heirlooms in his scheme. "I strive for something I call the undecorated look. I don't want a home to look as if it came together over a period of six weeks. It should be a lifetime of collecting," he often said.

Mario was a born collector. "One of my first purchases was an English Sheraton writing box for twelve dollars, bought out of my fifty-cent-a-week allowance. I loved the sense of history and mystery about it, and it has never stopped. I started collecting more and more antiques until my parents' house was so overcrowded with my "junk" furniture that they ordered me to move into my own apartment," he recounted. Between 1977 to 1991, he chaired New York's Winter Antiques Show, championing the importance – and glamour – of collecting antiques. Bringing his knack for publicity and sense of style, he helped make the show one of the most important and prestigious antiques fairs in the country. Along with the honor of redecorating Blair House, the Presidential Guest Quarters, this was one of his proudest accomplishments.

Specifically, Mario often said that the best education was to study nature and its play of pattern on pattern. This love of pattern is born out in his collection over and over, with highly decorated surfaces, whether in decalomania, scrolled paper, or japanning reigning supreme. Specifically, he looked to the garden and strove to turn his rooms into indoor edens, from the color palette of clear fresh greens, yellows and apricots, to botanical and vegetable forms rendered in porcelain and flowered chintz.

One might think of Mario's collection of antiques as having a talismanic power, given the emotional importance he invested in it. The unveiling of this collection is something that could never have happened during his lifetime as it was intrinsic to his sense of self. Just as owning something that belonged to Nancy, Sister, Slim, Bunny, Babe and others bestowed it with deep meaning for him, these pieces here will forever carry the essence of Mario magic within them.

“I think we can all safely say that Mario Buatta was a genius at using gorgeous Impressionistic colors and making his rooms romantic, pretty, and comfortable.

Having worked with him for almost 30 years, I can attest to his brilliance as a designer, but I don't think we should forget about his other talent as a showman. Being a frustrated vaudevillian, he would use every book signing and lecture to ply his craft. He was more interested in engaging the audience, telling corny jokes and putting on one of his many props such as a bad wig or hillbilly teeth than telling the audience how to decorate. Of course we cannot forget Harold the plastic roach who went everywhere with Mario including Buckingham palace.

Mario appeared on the second and third seasons of a show called Southern charm. He told me that he was positively thrilled when people recognized him not as the famous decorator but from his appearance on a reality TV show. My son called Mario “the Dame Edna of Decorating”. I can't tell you how much I miss him.”

PATRICIA ALTSCHUL

“Mario's way of doing things always looked and felt like magic. He had a mind that could survey a room for three seconds, see a complete picture down to the last detail, and bring to life the room he saw. Seeing his daily process for a couple of decades, I saw that his inherent genius and talent, was accompanied by years of hard work and tireless learning. Mario's strict work ethic, honesty, and high standards, elevated us who worked with him to do our best work, for that I'm forever grateful.”

HALEH ATABEIGI

“I knew he could be difficult, but Mario was great fun to work with. He could do anything--everything was done with such style and flair. I never felt pressured or imposed upon because he knew what would work. I was working with a very talented, funny master craftsman. All it took was patience and I loved being a part of his creativity.”

GILLIAN ATTFIELD

“Pretty much everything that Mario bought from me was for himself, which I took as a compliment. But what he bought was stashed away in his Manhattan apartment (which no one was invited to see), his country house, (which he never visited himself), and his warehouses (which were strictly off limits). Yet he felt compelled to possess each and every item that he did buy. After all, antiques were to him what food and shelter are to others. Mario, you see, was a true and obsessive collector. Knowledgeable, he had an eye for the best and a nose for the unusual. It's ironic that as his holdings burgeoned they became increasingly concealed, even to him. But now, finally, we can take the full measure of Mario as a collector, as well as a connoisseur.”

LOUIS BOFFERDING

“Part of Mario's expansive creativity was his passion for pranks. You never knew when you might become a victim of his delightful teasing... and then the smile... he had succeeded again!

We all met right out of school and remained friends... he is missed by all his friends and remembered with our smiles.”

JULIE AND TOM BRITT

“Mario was a throwback, a character straight out of vaudeville. His antics and sense of humor were as corny as his taste and knowledge were sophisticated. He lived a few blocks from me, so I'd often run into him on the street, with that infernal, omnipresent cockroach Harold. Equally often, I'd encounter him at a cabaret or the theater--especially, of course, at Dame Edna's shows, again and again. The same obsessiveness that made him an Edna fanatic drove him to be both a superb decorator and an infamous hoarder. Thanks to him, and his Edna ardency, my daughter and I ended up one memorable night hanging out after a show with Mario, Barry Humphries, and two pals of the star--Maggie Smith and Judi Dench, both of them, naturally, full-time females and real Dames.”

AMY FINE COLLINS

“A designer who's unique character was defined by his equaled levels of humor and tireless devotion to his craft and one who remained always a champion of younger generations throughout his prolific career.”

MADISON COX

“Memories of Mario --where to begin? More than his iconic stature in the world of interior design, known to all--what I will remember most was his mischievous personality. For example, from time to time he would call my office and offer anyone who answered the phone the chance to double their salary--if they only would come work for him! And I made a big mistake agreeing to do a series of appearances together when our books were launched in 2013. Not only did Mario dominate all the conversation with his charming repartee, but his constant accoutrements--the hairy hand and rubber cockroach--were show stoppers!”

ELLIE CULLMAN

“No matter how famous he became, Mario never forgot his roots. I first met Mario in 1967, while listening to him speak at Wagner College, Staten Island. I immediately loved his color choices, fabrics, smattering of antiques and, best of all, his fun-loving approach. So began a fifty year fabulous friendship. Beneath the well-tailored, fashionable exterior, breathed a heart that loved life, friends, children, and always dogs. I will continue to miss him.”

ALICE DIAMOND

“Mario was a total blast. We once collaborated on a Barneys holiday window, a depiction of New York in the 80’s which was very chintzy and very much a parody of a typical Nouvelle Society living room. He was quite happy to join in the joke. Everyone in the Barneys display studio fell in love with him, and he bought gifts for us all. He was a talented, eccentric, and a real gent.”

SIMON DOONAN

“My first time “experiencing” a room by Mario was seeing coverage of the premiere Kips Bay Decorator Showhouse in 1973. Looking at the room in retrospect it was fairly simple...by Mario’s standards. Yet, it still had so many of his signature elements, which would become more and more bold over time. How wonderful it was for me to honor him along with all the original designers on the 40th anniversary in 2013. The joy he brought over the years to design junkies was immense.”

JAMIE DRAKE

“What can we say about Mario? He was witty, fun, generous, exasperating, and occasionally “bad”. Working from a simple yellow pad, he was a true genius who I was privileged to call a dear friend. We had so many adventures together, all entertaining, and always a learning experience. One such caper was when he complained one day about how much storage he had and how much he was paying monthly. I was also in the same situation but on a miniscule scale compared to my friend, the collector of everything fun and beautiful. And so we decided to go storage shopping. We visited a ton of warehouses comparing prices and locations. Most had a few too many Harolds for my taste. For those who didn’t know Harold, he was a plastic cockroach that rarely left Mario’s side and was brought out in the most inappropriate places--showrooms, black tie dinner parties, chic restaurants etc.-anywhere that would shock. In the end I decided to bite the bullet and sell my beloved treasures. I asked Mario a few weeks later what he had decided to do. He confessed that he had taken yet more storage space. When I told him he was insane he told me unapologetically that he loved every piece he ever bought and that he had decided to keep everything until the day he died. He ended the conversation by saying “then it will be someone else’s problem!”. For what I am sure is the first time, the collection of the Prince of Chintz is all under one roof. I am certain that not even Mario ever experienced what we are now.”

ANNE EISENHOWER

“Mario was a fixture and client of my early years. He fell in love and bought a canvas screen with a blue and white palette from 18th century France and kept it for himself for the rest of his life. His sense of humor and mischief was highly unusual. The fangs that he brandished in an elevator once were so very convincing, I remember he actually shocked and scared some of the passengers. I knew of his tricks and calmed them. There was no one ever like him.”

HELEN FIORATTI

“As most people who appreciated a certain greatness, I was under Mario’s spell. In September 2008 when I bought my last apartment in NYC, I knew that Mario was the key to making it perfect. I contacted him and was so surprised at the ease with which he accepted my call, made an appointment to come see me, and then immediately we “had a deal”!

Mario knew the apartment as Ann Eisenhower had owned it and decorated it years before. There was easy transition to me and my desires. Almost immediately we started with his soon to be well filled written yellow legal pad page. I was mesmerized at his ease of decision for placement of furniture and his beautiful suggestions for fabrics and usage of rooms. What made it so easy to be with him was the fact that we both loved certain things of like nature. We really became friends very quickly. Our trips to the DND and the various antique shops were just the most fun. I was always amazed that he could pick out something that would ultimately fit in so well after all was done. It may have been a small Lilly of the Valley flower to go in a tiny china vase, but the fact that he was able to know exactly what went where upon completion was so interesting. With my being a ‘loving hands at home’ type designer, I learned a lot from him. He loved dogs and some people! He was generous in his thoughts generally speaking. He took great pleasure in joking with anyone who might be within earshot and he loved using that cockroach (Howard) in restaurants and along the streets. He knew I disliked that thing!!!

I loved him and my main consolation is in walking into my apartment and knowing that he was responsible for everything in it...I miss being with him, but I am surrounded by him....”

MARCIA FRENCH

“Years ago, when I had a weekend house in Northwestern Connecticut, I hired Mario, and as with most of his clients, we became friends. Mario was a one-man show with his yellow legal pads and blue Bic pens. There were reams of incomprehensible notations. Well, that is to anyone but Mario and my cat, Pinky. Our mutual friend, Patty Dryden, saw the beauty of his notes and made the most ingenious screen out of them for her dining room. Years later, when we were going through the Bunny Mellon sale at Sotheby’s, Mario noticed the small scale of the furniture. Bunny was a tall imposing woman. Mario turned to me and said, “She must have loved her dollhouse as a little girl.” Mario’s sense of color, patterns, knowledge of antiques and proportions, were impeccable. He truly was as cozy and fun as the rooms he created.”

CATHY GRAHAM

“To have known Mario is to have LOVED Mario. Three generations of Hamptons have known and loved the Prince of Chintz: my Parents, my husband and I, and my 3 children. Mario could be a paradox - his glamorous and over the top interiors were insanely comfortable and livable. He also loved to play the curmudgeon, which was at odds with his hilarious and outrageous sense of humor and his undeniable kindness. He kept us all on our toes and reveled in his unpredictability. Though he is greatly missed, his absolutely stunning portfolio of work will connect us to his memory forever. He will always be one of the most iconic and legendary pioneers of design and I am grateful to have also called him my friend.”

ALEXA HAMPTON

“Mario Buatta and I started working together way back in the late seventies. He was involved with the decor of many of our homes over the years including the 99 room French chateau built by railroad heiress Harriet Pullman in 1915 called “Carolands”. For all those years our family was surrounded by beautiful rooms thanks to his genius in combining patterns and his incredible color sense. He became a close friend and is greatly missed by us.”

CHARLES AND ANN JOHNSON

“I first met Mario when I joined Sibyl Colefax & John Fowler over twenty-five years ago. I was entering an entirely new world – up until then I had worked as a lawyer – and conservatively dressed Mario, with his zany wigs, false noses and very particular sense of humor made me realize just how different it was going to be. Mario’s association with the company sprang from his friendship with John Fowler many years previously. Mario’s own decorating style was distinct from but very much influenced by Fowler’s: it might be characterized as ‘Colefax & Fowler with an American accent’. After John Fowler’s death, Mario remained a loyal friend to his successors in the company, always coming in for a chat on his frequent visits to London, and in touch with us between visits, in those pre-email days, by lengthy, gossipy telephone conversations with our archivist, Barrie McIntyre; there can’t have been a thing going in the company that Mario didn’t know about and Barrie was able to keep us all equally up to date with the doings of Mario’s world in New York. Mario’s attachment to Sibyl Colefax & John Fowler was not just social, however. To my own great pleasure and satisfaction, he remained a loyal patron of our antiques department, regularly making significant purchases from us over many years, not just on behalf of his clients but also for his own collection. I was always particularly pleased when an item of stock that I had found caught his eye and passed the “Mario test”.”

ROGER JONES

The drawing was commissioned by the NYTimes. I do not remember the exact year --maybe 1989 -88, and it appeared in the magazine section. It was under Cary Donovan’s editorial direction. She sent me to his apartment, which of course I adored. Messy and super entertaining but elegant and so so fun. Not dry fake modernism of our days--or pretend wannabe of the late 80’s--just exuberant and full of life, like Mario himself. He posed for a life drawing but talked a lot at the same time. I responded immediately to Mario’s charm, he made me feel immediately at home and his kindness, I will never forget. What a heart, what a smile, what generosity!

KONSTANTIN KAKANIAS

“”DESIGN is not just what it looks like and feels like. DESIGN is what works.” — Steve Jobs Mario achieved the epitome of DESIGN. He always knew what worked. That was his genius.”

ELLEN KRAVET

“Mario was a joy and very humorous experience to work with! He helped us with our two Tulsa homes, Aspen home and our Yacht which won an International Award for interior design!”

ROXANA AND ROBERT LORTON

“I discovered the beauty of Mario’s extraordinary creations from the magazines I poured over in the 1970’s and early 80’s growing up in the Midwest; often from the public library or the stacks of the college library I attended. My dream was to be a decorator and work for Mario.

He was an inspiration to millions, a friend to many, a mentor to me.

Working with Mario opened my eyes to his true creative genius. He told me to look far into the background of a chintz for a possible wall color and to use one special vendor to hand sew decorative pillows; train them in the details you love.

The office had hundreds of chaotic stacked fabrics and boxes of passementerie to shop from. Mario would tell me to find the contrast fabric for a curtain or sofa skirt tape trim. I would show him so many options and he always said “no”. It had to be the perfect shade or shape. He would never settle.

Saturdays were my favorite days with Mario. Elsa Klensch was always on the tiny TV perched atop a towering stack of books, magazines and papers on his desk. Mario was always on the phone with his girlfriends. We completed monthly billings which he prepared by hand on a yellow legal pad stapled with backup. I typed bills on thin color-coded onion skin papers separated by carbon paper.

Mario was a true genius, a rare force of nature and a crazy efficient boss I am grateful to have worked for him and to have known him.”

BETH MARTELL

“Mario was a magician with his wit, humor, color, taste and great vision. He captured the spirit of the great English Houses but imbued it with a new spirit in the most wonderful American way. He had a wicked tongue that left us laughing for days. It’s not the same without Mario holding court!”

BRIAN MCCARTHY

“Knowing he had such an archive at home, such a story to tell, such work to record, such a book to create, I stalked Mario for years wanting to be his publisher. First, he gave me only his humor (the faux cockroaches, the corny but hilarious Italian-American jokes), as a test of whether we could be friends, first and foremost, and accept him hook, line, and sinker....and then he went to work, embarking on his book, his last great project....only hinting that there was just sooooo much at home to go through, he spent more than a year bringing in piles of this and that, high and low: from folios of original fabrics and papers to crumpled newspaper and magazine articles; from rare faded color images to unique embroidery and tassels, and more and more from this endless treasure trove.

He was proud of fifty years of exceptional work but ever self-deprecating: seeing himself as much a historian of American interior design as its paradigm. We watched him make his book by hand, as he must have shaped a room, until it was what he wanted, precisely, and could enjoy it. His regret was that there was still so much more to tell.”

Our regret, on seeing this extraordinary collection, is that he isn’t here to deeply amuse and greatly inform us with the stories that accompany each and every object. We miss you, can’t thank you enough, and promise to keep your fire burning brightly.

CHARLES MIERS

“In the mid 80’s I left Wall Street for the world of decorating. Reading all the decorating magazines for years, of course I knew who Mario was, but, his quirks, his jokes and his personality was something yet to be experienced. I remember calling him to tell him about a new shipment that would all be in place in my shop on Thursday. Mario arrived on Wednesday morning! On the floor were stacks of porcelain, objects etc.. He blew in and started with rapid fire questions and completely flustered the staff. I pulled him aside and said, ‘would you like something to drink?’ As I gave it to him I said ‘now, please be nice to my staff and do NOT bark at them like that, these girls think you hung the moon.’ He fired back, ‘are you always this bossy?’ I said yes, don’t forget it. We understood each other perfectly after that and laughed for another 35 years.”

CHARLOTTE MOSS

“I remember hearing many hilarious anecdotes about Mario, like everybody did—they were part of New York life, as much as stories about Ed Koch or Garbo or getting in a cab and having the driver say ‘I just had Jackie O in my cab.’ Mario was many things, but he really was a great New Yorker.

My father owned the textile house Cowtan & Tout, and for a brief moment in the early 80’s was known as “The Prince of Chintz” before the title stuck better to Mario and he kind of made off with it. Fair enough. Mario was a big client, but they were also friends and highly outrageous humorous sparring partners. I remember hearing about a call my dad took from Mario to complain about something and my father said ‘Mario, do you call up Clarence House and talk like this to Robin Roberts? This is the Big Cheese!’ And hung up on him. They would what is now known as ‘punk’ each other.

Everyone saw or read about this side of Mario--the dollar bills snatched away on a string, the fake noses, etc. But I will also tell you that he was the last person to leave my mother’s funeral, which moved me very much. I watched closely, and the emotion on his face showed an enormous heart disguised by the equally enormous capacity for mischief. He did know what pain was, and he knew what friendship was, and while pretending to make you laugh he could be a real friend.

Remembering this, I took great pleasure in calling him when he was in a hospital just last year to let him know I had dedicated my Kips Bay showhouse room to him, an homage to one of his great red lacquer rooms of I think 1980. I was full of sincere feeling as I started to describe how everybody was talking about him and the New York Times was covering it, etc., and he cut me off and said he was in trouble for sexually assaulting a nurse. “I don’t know what happened, I just stuck it in.” It was his way of not letting it get too serious, you see—he knew, and I knew it was the end, but he wanted no tears. They don’t make people like that anymore.”

DAVID NETTO

“When Mario arrived in London and first met John Fowler, he also met my father, George Oakes. George was Colefax and Fowler’s brilliant decorative painter and designer. His work with John Fowler, in dozens of the grandest houses, was much admired by Mario. Mario and George struck up a long friendship, both enjoying each other’s irreverent attitude and sense of humor, the ability to not take oneself seriously. Mario visited our cottage in the Kent countryside dressed up hilariously in a wig with hair curlers and we were all totally smitten.

He was to commission my father many times over the years. Amongst these commissions were the dog paintings for his own collection and many hand painted silk pillows. These were most coveted by George’s clients, each one exquisitely painted in oils on silk with delectable images of fruit, flowers, and insects. Mario adored them. Eventually they became a signature of his interiors, propped on a chair or sofa, a signifier of nature and beauty, and an authentic stamp of the English country house style that he so loved.”

LUCINDA OAKES

“Mario was the master mixer. There was no one who had an eye for mixing fabrics the way that he did. He learned from the best and truly became a master himself. His magical interiors always felt collected and unique, and reflected his great taste and wonderful sense of humor. Mario loved English furniture, ceramics, and Chinoiserie, and shopped in all the best stores and at auctions all over the world. His rooms felt personal, layered and sophisticated. Mario brought English country house style to America and made it fresh and relevant, creating interiors that were both luxurious and livable. His name will always go hand in hand with beautiful, floral printed fabrics – he truly was “The Prince of Chintz.” Mario’s incredible sense of whimsy and love of animals is a passion we both shared. He was a great friend that my partner, Scott, and I will always remember. His wit and naughty charm is greatly missed by all who knew and loved him.”

ALEX PAPACHRISTIDIS

“There will never be another Mario. And for good reason. For fifty-some years he designed extraordinary, traditional interiors combining find design with shelter, comfort, and joy. His color palette cheers, delights, and offers emotional sustenance. It seems impossible to be depressed in a Mario Buatta interior. When I became editor-in-chief of Architectural Digest in 1970, it was always a pleasure to show his work, in part because of the fan mail we received from our readers and because a Mario Buatta interior on the cover meant big newsstand sales. He was important to the Magazine’s success and to the design industry. The world knows him now, HE IS A LEGEND! I miss him dearly.”

PAIGE RENSE

My first exposure to the extraordinary Mario Buatta was through the pages of the shelter magazines I adored and looked to for inspiration when I was developing my own design aesthetic. As a young designer coming up in that world, I would pore over his sophisticated yet accessible interiors in the late 70’s, when he was cementing his status as a visionary. I remember being so taken with a picture hung in the cornice of one of his rooms with an impossibly elegant, perfect bow, just as the English did (a style which would later earn him his famous moniker, The Prince of Chintz).

In the 80’s, seeing his work first-hand brought me such joy—he translated the refinement and carefully curated English interiors in a very American way—layering in comfort, ease, warmth, and his own distinctive punch of patterns. His interiors were so impactful and had guts and gusto to spare!

During the mid-80’s, at Mario’s request, I had the honor of decorating the Tiffany Room at what is now known as The Winter Show at the Armory in Manhattan (an event he revived and was chairing at the time). It was during this period together that we became friends and I got to know Mario, the comedian and prankster (an unexpected dichotomy in his persona that pleasantly surprised me!). He made me belly laugh so many times, with his faux mouse, toupees, and various funny bits. One such joke included a Tiffany shopping bag filled with broken glass which he deliberately dropped as he handed it to me. It was pre-staged, but I thought all those valuables were destroyed on the spot! It was so refreshing that at the heart of all this elegant work was a person who could have taken himself quite seriously but didn’t. In the end he disabled us all with not only with his beautiful work, but his inherent charm and love of laughter.

CAROLYNE ROEHM

“One of the reasons I loved working for Mario was his wonderful eye, deep appreciation for beautiful objects and antiques, and his great sense of whimsy. To go shopping with Mario was alternately a great learning experience and also quite terrifying as no one could shop as fast as Mario! Keeping up with him wasn’t always easy, but it was always enlightening and great fun. His constant pursuit of beauty and the next wonderful object was relentless, but it was true to who he was and informed all of his collecting. I doubt there will ever be another collector or collection quite like Mario’s.”

TODD ROMANO

“Mario Buatta was a lifetime friend who really became part of our family. We all loved him! Mario had a great big heart and was tons of fun. I thought of him as a brother despite the fact he would introduce me to all as his mother.

He came to family weddings, christenings, and birthday parties. He usually spent Christmas with us and the kids affectionately called him “Uncle”. He was such good company as he had a fabulous sense of humor. Someone asked him why he was called the Prince of Chintz and he replied he was too young to be call the king. Mario was also our decorator and I know how very lucky we were to have him design so many projects. His genius was his sense of color rivaling Matisse plus he understood better than any architect the importance of scale, proportion, and detail. He thought being called a designer was inappropriate, he would always state he was a decorator. In fact, he was a legend, a genius, and a dear friend.”

HILARY AND WILBUR ROSS

“As new married thirty-somethings, we had both admired Mario’s work for years and called him, fingers crossed, in the hopes that he would agree to meet with us and work on our John Staub house in Houston. The house was perfectly suited for Mario’s “Prince of Chintz” version of the sumptuous English Country House look. That meeting kicked off an 18-year relationship and spanned three children, three homes lots and lots of laughs! Mario was a trusted advisor and great teacher on Georgian antiques, idealized proportions on EVERYTHING, perfect seating arrangements and the most gorgeous upholstery ever. Mario was a true one of a kind, a dear friend, and a very special man to all of us.”

COURTNEY AND CHRISTOPHER SAROFIM

“I was deeply honored when asked to write a few words about my friend Mario Buatta. He was a brilliant interior decorator and also a kind and generous friend. We shared a love of dogs and dog paintings, and his support of our mutual interest was always immediate and sincerely appreciated.

Mario was an early proponent of the English country house style, to become so closely associated with dogs, dog paintings and the country life. He bought his first English nineteenth century dog painting in the 1960’s, putting together an extraordinary collection over the years. They were eventually to take over his apartment, hanging floor to ceiling from blue taffeta bows in his elegant living room. Explaining his interest in dog paintings, he joked that “Yes, you don’t have to feed or walk them.... and they go up in value!” Mario will be sorely missed.”

WILLIAM SECORD

“Mario used to joke about how he did the English country house look: he’d decorate the apartment, call the ASPCA to bring in a pack of dogs, feed them well, with no walks and locked in the apartment for a good two weeks. Then they were let out, apartment cleaned, and voila! The English country house look! What Mario knew was that layers and layers of years of collecting, and the patina of life are what make a room. Why have one spaniel painting, when you can corner the market?

His wit and humor where unparalleled and I recall his encouragement to take life a little less seriously. He would often send me cutouts from Crate & Barrel or ‘Shades of Light’ with a post it note, here a few shapes for you to copy!”

CHRIS SPITZMILLER

“When Mario passed away, it was a great loss to the design profession. But what a legacy he left. There are very few designers who defined an era in design and yet their work is also considered timeless. Mario did it. I distinctly remember when I asked him to give a talk to students at the college just a few years ago he gruffly agreed but prophesied that nobody would come, saying “students don’t care about what I do.” When the time came, the room was packed and he talked about his work with a sparkle in his eye to a rapt audience.”

DAVID SPROULS

“Mario Buatta was a dear friend to my grandmother, Peggy Lee, and through her, he became my beloved friend as well. She was so impressed by his immense talent and exceptional taste and was always eager to tell me and others all about the prestigious designing jobs that Mario took on. But it wasn’t his brilliant interior design skills that most impressed her – it was his amazing sense of humor that she loved best. It tickled her that someone as impressive and successful as Mario was (designing Blair House!) was the same person who put so much thought and effort into pulling off some of the funniest pranks ever (bringing a tuxedo-clad chimpanzee to one of her concerts!). It’s hard to say goodbye to a spirit as bright as his, but just as Peggy Lee’s music lives on, so too do Mario’s wonderful designs. The two of them created art that endures, and wherever they are now, they likely are surrounded by good music and a lot of beautiful Chintz.”

HOLLY FOSTER WELLS

“Maestro Mario lived life with great gusto. His zest for layering rooms with beautiful antiques, shamelessly acquisitive nature and unique sense of humor complemented a broad smile and pocket-square panache. As a decorator, he considered carefully; as a collector, he bought with abandon; eager as the early bird, he was also a competitive shopper. To know Mario was to experience an exasperating torrent of neuroses, redeemed in the end by his unfailing knack for detail, lofty touches that made things memorable. And, to think he accomplished virtually everything on his own -- as a one-man band -- is to realize his selections are an extraordinary legacy.”

ANGUS WILKIE

“Edith Wolf opened Bardith in 1962. From the beginning, Mario Buatta was the first one knocking on the door when a new shipment arrived. Mario always had a joke. He often came into the shop saying that he was about to open a second Bardith across the street. He had purchased our best pieces for decades and maintained that he would now flood the market with the best antique porcelain and pottery pushing us out of business.”

I live in an apartment in a 1929 Federal-style town house with apricot walls and a floor painted to look like the floor of a Russian palace. I sleep in a bed from the Brighton Pavilion in England that was made for Prince Albert, but he never liked sleeping in it. I have paintings of dogs that hang on sashes of silk with bows at the top by the ceiling. And I have an octagonal dining table. I think I've used it twice...

REGENCY

Politically, the Regency is defined as the period between 1811 and 1820 when Parliament named the Prince of Wales as Regent to his physically and mentally incapacitated father George III. In the decorative arts, the term refers to a period spanning the late 1790s to the end of George IV's reign in 1830 or even that of William IV in 1837, which marked a definitive break from 18th-century Georgian taste. The Regency style had many influences both internally and from abroad, beginning with the neoclassicism of the late Louis XVI period practiced by the Prince of Wales' architect Henry Holland followed by the more archaeologically-inspired French Empire style developed by Napoleon's tastemakers Percier and Fontaine, based on Greek and Roman antiquity and paralleled in England by the work of the architect Charles Heathcote Tatham and the connoisseur-collector Thomas Hope. Napoleon's Egyptian campaign documented by the artist and archaeologist Vivant Denon sparked an interest in Egyptian motifs, and the exotic appeal of Chinese and Gothic ornament continued to play a role. One decorative element that proved particularly popular was the dolphin, derived from ancient Roman art and frequently seen in France due to its associations with the heir to the throne the dauphin, and also previously favoured by William Kent in his furniture designs. As a maritime symbol, dolphins would take on a new resonance after Nelson's victory at Trafalgar in 1805 assured Britain's status as the world's dominant naval power. The Regency Style came to be regarded as the pinnacle of classical elegance and enjoyed a revival in the 20th century on both sides of the Atlantic among designers ranging from Sibyl Colefax and Syrie Maugham to Dorothy Draper, Elsie de Wolfe and Billy Haines.

This screen was acquired in the late 1960s and put to work ever since, both in Buatta's public exhibitions as well as in his private spaces. It appeared in Buatta's first ever published room, a decorator's show house in Greenwich illustrated in the September 1969 issue of House and Garden, but was also kept in each of his apartments, and served a useful purpose when receiving clients. Mario liked to recall that sometimes he would invite prospective clients home to see his portfolio, and then hide behind the screen to eavesdrop whilst they discussed their reactions to his highly personal style.

DOG PAINTING

From “Cave Canem”, the mosaic at the entrance to the House of the Tragic Poet in Pompeii created in the 1st Century AD, to Pieter Breughel’s frosty Hunters in the Snow with their large pack of hunting dogs, to Thomas Gainsborough’s frothy portraits of British aristocracy and their dogs, man’s best friend has appeared again and again throughout the history of art. In England, Europe, Asia and eventually America, the dog’s role as a protector, working herder or retriever, pet, loyal companion and symbol of unconditional love was celebrated and immortalized through their inclusion in works of art, both painted and sculpted. By the 19th Century, inspired by Queen Victoria’s love of animals - and her patronage of animal artists such as John Frederick Herring Snr. And Sir Edwin Landseer - Victorian collectors went mad for dog portraiture. Mario Buatta’s collection of dog paintings – and especially Cavalier King Charles Spaniels – carried on the proud tradition of charming and comical depictions of dogs while introducing clients and collectors alike to the charms of dogs in art.

JAPANNING

Following the establishment of trading links with Asia by Portuguese explorers in the early 1500s, works of art from the Far East began arriving to the West in greater quantities by the early 17th century with the foundation of the East India trading companies, in England (1600), Holland (1602), Denmark (1616) and France (1664). In addition to much sought-after porcelain, Europeans were introduced to chests, cabinets, screens and small wooden objects decorated in lacquer, a brilliant and durable surface obtained by painstakingly building up multiple layers of sap from the indigenous lacquer tree rhus vernicifera. Such exotic but functional objects were highly desirable but also expensive, encouraging European artisans to seek a method of imitating Asian lacquer. This was first done in Italy using gum varnish from the sandarac tree native to North Africa, and the technique soon spread to France, the Low Countries, Germany and England, where it was called 'japanning', as lacquer wares from Japan were regarded as superior to Chinese production. The design inspiration for japanned work however was resolutely Chinese, using engravings of Chinese figures, architecture and ornament that appeared in various publications such as the Dutch traveler Johan Nieuhof's Embassy from the East-India Company (1665, translated into English in 1673) and were compiled in a single volume A Treatise of Japanning and Varnishing by John Stalker and George Parker (1688) that became a bible for professional and amateur lacquer artists.

The William and Mary, Queen Anne and early Georgian periods were a golden age of English japanning, which unlike Japanese lacquer employed numerous different coloured grounds in addition to black, with red being extremely popular and used on clock cases, chairs, and especially bureau cabinets, a specialty of the prolific London workshop of Giles Grendey (1693-1780). The popularity of japanning waned somewhat in the second half of the 18th century but came back into fashion during the Regency and Victorian eras, when the technique was extended to new surfaces such as papier-mâché and tinware.

A GEORGE III RED JAPANNED BUREAU CABINET, SECOND QUARTER 18TH CENTURY

upper section possibly associated, redecorated height 88 ½ in.; width 41 ¾ in.; depth 21 ¾ in.; 224.8 cm; 106 cm; 55.3 cm

Mario Buatta acquired this bureau cabinet in England in the 1970s, and it remained with him in all his apartments as a focal point in the living room. The classic English japanned bureau cabinet fulfils the dual purpose of both providing both a strong vertical anchor point of rich colour and exuberant surface decoration in a room as well as serving as a functional storage piece and display vehicle for multifarious objects including antique porcelain and small boxes - things all beloved to the designer and integral elements of his decorating philosophy. Virtually every one of Buatta's major projects has included a lacquer bureau cabinet in the main drawing room.

It is likely that the designer was inspired in his love of bureau cabinets by his early mentor, Rose Cumming. The larger-than-life decorator Cumming (1887-1968) was born on a sheep farm in Australia and emigrated to New York in 1917 with her sister, the silent film star Dorothy Cumming. Her decorating office in a converted automobile showroom on Park Avenue doubled as a fabric and antique shop and specialized in flamboyant chintz patterns, chinoiserie, and Venetian, Austrian and South German baroque and rococo furniture, at a time when most New Yorkers favoured conservative English Georgian taste or at most the more conventional French Louis XV and XVI. When he was a student, Buatta worked for Rose Cumming on Saturdays, along with Tom Britt and John Robert Moore II, and at the end of the day she would always prepare them dinner. Her own townhouse was decorated with Chinese wallpaper on a silver ground, something Buatta would recreate in the painted walls of his entrance hall. Her taste had more than a whiff of Hollywood glamour and appealed to film stars - her clients included Mary Pickford, Norma Shearer and Marlene Dietrich.

ENGLISH ENAMELS

English enamels are among the most charming productions of the Georgian rococo. First created in Battersea, that name has stuck with the art form - even though production soon moved elsewhere, particularly to South Staffordshire. As collectibles, they were rediscovered in the early 20th century, with Nellie Ionides and Queen Mary building notable groups. This, in turn, inspired American collectors including Jackie Kennedy, Betsey Whitney, Brooke Astor and Bunny Mellon, who appreciated the delicate aspect of the candlesticks, snuff boxes, and novelty-form bonbonnières and nutmeg graters.

The "Preußisch-musikalische Dessin" [Prussian-musical design] of military, musical and astronomical trophies in relief decoration seen on wares was probably modeled by Freidrich Elias Meyer around 1760-61, in part after drawings by the king himself. signed J. Van Os fecit. (lower center)

Christie's New York, 18 January 1984, lot 1
Acquired at the above sale

Jan van Os was the leading Dutch still life painter in the second half of the eighteenth century. He studied with Aert Schouman in The Hague and was an independent master there by 1773. Though he also painted landscapes and seascapes, Van Os was famed for his opulent and minutely observed fruit and flower still lifes in the tradition of his countryman Jan van Huysum (1682–1749).

In the present example, van Os has characteristically set his still life on a stone ledge, beyond which can be seen as an architectural structure in a landscape. He has interestingly arranged a variety of flowers in a glass goldfish bowl, against which reflects the colors of the surrounding foliage. This goldfish bowl appears in other examples by the artist, including a still life in an English private collection<sup>1</sup> and another still life recently sold at Sotheby's London.<sup>2</sup>

We are grateful to Dr. Fred G. Meijer for endorsing the attribution to Jan van Os after first-hand inspection.

SISTER PARISH

One of the leading American designers of the 20th century, Sister Parish (1910-1994) was born Dorothy May Kinnicutt and as the only daughter in a family of three sons she received her celebrated nickname from a young age. In 1930 she married the banker Henry Parish II, but as the Depression affected the young couple's finances, she took the unusual step at the time for a lady of her background to take up work, as an interior designer. Entirely self-taught, she was strongly influenced by her family taste, notably her first cousin, the legendary Dorothy Draper. Her breakthrough came in the late 1950s when she decorated the Georgetown house of Jackie and the then Senator John F. Kennedy, and after he became president she was invited to work on the private rooms at the White House. In 1964 she was joined by the Parsons-trained Albert Hadley, and they remained in partnership until her death. Their client list included some of America's most illustrious names, among them Astor, Vanderbilt, Whitney, Engelhard, Paley, Getty, and Mellon, and their aesthetic had an important influence on a younger generation of designers, among them Mario Buatta.

Like Buatta, Sister Parish was a great admirer of the English Country House style, and they had many shared interests, among them dog paintings, floral chintz, and above all sumptuous bedrooms – Billy Baldwin called Parish's bedrooms 'the most attractive, seductive, and luxurious in America...simply the best thing that has ever been in the history of the art'. The two had an amicably competitive relationship – Sister is reported as saying, 'Mario's wonderful. He calls me up and says, "what have you done lately that I can copy"?' – but one clearly based on mutual respect. Buatta described her work warmly: "Sister, as Mrs. Parish was known to her friends, made her rooms look very inviting, and you felt like people had just left the room."

Acquired January 1985 at the Sotheby's Lennox Hill Neighborhood Association auction

As reported in the New York Times on 22 January 1985, a world record was set for 'designer dustbins' at the annual Lennox Hill Neighborhood charity auction held at Sotheby's. Sister Parish designed this wastepaper basket in eau de Nil shadow stripes and cutout flowers and Chinese figures. Mario Buatta was the winning bidder at $3,100 hammer. In return, Sister Parish acquired Mario Buatta's contribution to the auction, a dustbin also covered in floral cutouts on a pink fabric, and entitled 'Things I Shouldn't Have Thrown Away', and according to its creator was filled with 'a pair of tickets to this weekend's Winter Antiques Show, a Krone telephone designed by me, a pair of panty hose for men, plastic chintz gloves, astronaut food, an old Social Register, letters I should have mailed but didn't and some naughty postcards'. Sister Parish paid $1,735 to secure it. When asked how he intended to use his purchase, Buatta replied, 'I'm just going to put it in the middle of the room and tell everyone that Sister Parish did my house.'

(a) The bidder and/or purchaser is not subject to trade sanctions, embargoes or any other restriction on trade in the jurisdiction in which it does business as well as under the laws of the European Union, the laws of England and Wales, or the laws and regulations of the United States, and is not owned (nor partly owned) or controlled by such sanctioned person(s) (collectively, "Sanctioned Person(s)");

(b) Where acting as agent (with Sotheby's prior written consent), the principal is not a Sanctioned Person(s) nor owned (or partly owned) or controlled by Sanctioned Person(s); and

(c) The bidder and/or purchaser undertakes that none of the purchase price will be funded by any Sanctioned Person(s), nor will any party be involved in the transaction including financial institutions, freight forwarders or other forwarding agents or any other party be a Sanctioned Person(s) nor owned (or partly owned) or controlled by a Sanctioned Person(s), unless such activity is authorized in writing by the government authority having jurisdiction over the transaction or in applicable law or regulation.

In order to bid on "Premium Lots" you must complete the required Premium Lot pre-registration application. Sotheby's decision whether to accept any pre-registration application shall be final. You must arrange for Sotheby's to receive your pre-registration application at least three working days before the sale. Please bear in mind that we are unable to obtain financial references over weekends or public holidays.

Sotheby's may require such necessary financial references, guarantees, deposits and/or such other security, in its absolute discretion, as security for your bid(s).

7. Online Bids via an Online Platform Sotheby's may offer clients the opportunity to bid on sothebys.com or through the Sotheby's App, or on any other online platform through which bidding may be made available for selected sales. By participating in a sale via any of the Online Platforms, you acknowledge that you are bound by these Conditions of Sale as well as the Additional Terms and Conditions for Online Bidding ("Online Terms"). By participating in a sale via any Online Platform, Bidders accept the Online Terms, as well as the relevant Conditions of Sale. Online bidding may not be available for Premium Lots.

8. Bids Below Reserve If the auctioneer determines that any opening bid is below the reserve of the article offered, he may reject the same and withdraw the article from sale, and if, having acknowledged an opening bid, he determines that any advance thereafter is insufficient, he may reject the advance.

9. Purchaser's Responsibility Subject to fulfillment of all of the conditions set forth herein, on the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, the contract between the consignor and the purchaser is concluded, and the winning bidder thereupon will immediately pay the full purchase price or such part as we may require. Title in a purchased lot will not pass until Sotheby's has received the full purchase price in cleared funds. The purchaser's obligation to immediately pay the full purchase price or such part as we may require is absolute and unconditional and is not subject to any defenses, setoffs or counterclaims of any kind whatsoever. Sotheby's is not obligated to release a lot to the purchaser until title to the lot has passed and any earlier release does not affect the passing of title or the purchaser's unconditional obligation to pay the full purchase price. In addition to other remedies available to us by law, we reserve the right to impose from the date of sale a late charge of the annual percentage rate of Prime + 6% of the total purchase price if payment is not made in accordance with the conditions set forth herein. Please note Sotheby's reserves the right to refuse to accept payment from a source other than the buyer of record.

Unless otherwise agreed by Sotheby's, all property must be removed from our premises by the purchaser at his expense not later than 30 calendar days following its sale. Purchasers are reminded that Sotheby's liability for loss of or damage to sold property shall cease upon the earlier of (a) 30 calendar days after the date of the auction and (b) our release of the property to the purchaser or the purchaser's designated agent. Upon the expiration of such 30 calendar day period or upon such earlier release, as applicable: (i) the purchaser bears full liability for any and all loss of or damage to the property; (ii) the purchaser releases Sotheby's, its affiliates, agents and warehouses from any and all liability and claims for loss of or damage to the property; and (iii) the purchaser agrees to indemnify and hold Sotheby's, its affiliates, agents and warehouses harmless from and against any and all liability for loss of or damage to property and any all claims related to loss of or damage to the property as of and from and after the time Sotheby's liability for loss or damage to the property ceases in accordance with this paragraph. If any applicable conditions herein are not complied with by the purchaser, the purchaser will be in default and in addition to any and all other remedies available to us and the Consignor by law, including, without limitation, the right to hold the purchaser liable for the total purchase price, including all fees, charges and expenses more fully set forth herein, we, at our option, may (x) cancel the sale of that, or any other lot or lots sold to the defaulting purchaser at the same or any other auction, retaining as liquidated damages all payments made by the purchaser, or (y) resell the purchased property, whether at public auction or by private sale, or (z) effect any combination thereof. In any case, the purchaser will be liable for any deficiency, any and all costs, handling charges, late charges, expenses of both sales, our commissions on both sales at our regular rates, legal fees and expenses, collection fees and incidental damages. We may, in our sole discretion, apply any proceeds of sale then due or thereafter becoming due to the purchaser from us or any affiliated company, or any payment made by the purchaser to us or any affiliated company, whether or not intended to reduce the purchaser's obligations with respect to the unpaid lot or lots, to the deficiency and any other amounts due to us or any affiliated companies. In addition, a defaulting purchaser will be deemed to have granted and assigned to us and our affiliated companies, a continuing security interest of first priority in any property or money of or owing to such purchaser in our possession, custody or control or in the possession, custody or control of any of our affiliated companies, in each case whether at the time of the auction, the default or if acquired at any time thereafter, and we may retain and apply such property or money as collateral security for the obligations due to us or to any affiliated company of ours. We shall have all of the rights accorded a secured party under the New York Uniform Commercial Code. You hereby agree that Sotheby's may file financing statements under the New York Uniform Commercial Code without your signature. Payment will not be deemed to have been made in full until we have collected good funds. Any claims relating to any purchase, including any claims under the Conditions of Sale or Terms of Guarantee, must be presented directly to Sotheby's. In the event the purchaser fails to pay any or all of the total purchase price for any lot and Sotheby's nonetheless elects to pay the Consignor any portion of the sale proceeds, the purchaser acknowledges that Sotheby's shall have all of the rights of the Consignor to pursue the purchaser for any amounts paid to the Consignor, whether at law, in equity, or under these Conditions of Sale.

10. Reserve All lots in this catalogue are offered subject to a reserve, which is the confidential minimum hammer price at which a lot will be sold. No reserve will exceed the low resale estimate stated in the catalogue, or as amended by oral or posted notices. We may implement such reserve by opening the bidding on behalf of the Consignor and may bid up to the amount of the reserve, by placing successive or consecutive bids for a lot, or bids in response to other bidders. In instances where we have an interest in the lot other than our commission, we may bid up to the reserve to protect such interest.

In certain instances, the Consignor may pay us less than the standard commission rate where a lot is “bought-in” to protect its reserve.

11. Tax Unless exempted by law, the purchaser will be required to pay the combined New York State and local sales tax, any applicable compensating use tax of another state, and if applicable, any federal luxury or other tax, on the total purchase price. The rate of such combined tax is 8.875% in New York City and ranges from 7% to 8.625% elsewhere in New York.

12. Export and Permits It is the purchaser’s sole responsibility to identify and obtain any necessary export, import, firearm, endangered species or other permit for the lot. Any symbols or notices in the sale catalogue reflect Sotheby’s reasonable opinion at the time of cataloguing and are for bidders’ general guidance only; Sotheby’s and the Consignor make no representations or warranties as to whether any lot is or is not subject to export or import restrictions or any embargoes.

13. Governing Law and Jurisdiction These Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee, as well as bidders’, the purchaser’s and our respective rights and obligations hereunder, shall be governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of New York. By bidding at an auction, whether present in person or by agent, order or absentee bid, telephone, online or other means, all bidders including the purchaser, shall be deemed to have consented to the exclusive jurisdiction of the state courts of, and the federal courts sitting in, the State of New York. All parties agree, however, that Sotheby’s shall retain the right to bring proceedings in a court other than the state and federal courts sitting in the State of New York.

14. Packing and Shipping We are not responsible for the acts or omissions in our packing or shipping of purchased lots or of other carriers or packers of purchased lots, whether or not recommended by us. Packing and handling of purchased lots is at the entire risk of the purchaser.

15. Limitation of Liability In no event will the aggregate liability of Sotheby’s and the consignor to a purchaser exceed the purchase price actually paid.

16. Data Protection Sotheby’s will hold and process your personal information and may share it with its subsidiaries and affiliates for use as described in, and in line with, Sotheby’s Privacy Policy published on Sotheby’s website at www.sothebys.com or available on request by email to enquiries@sothebys.com.

Under European data protection laws, a client may object, by request and free of charge, to the processing of their information for certain purposes, including direct marketing, and may access and rectify personal data relating to them and may obtain more information about Sotheby’s data protection policies by writing to Sotheby’s, 34-35 New Bond Street, London W1A 2AA, or 1334 York Avenue, New York, NY 10021. Attn: Compliance, or emailing enquiries@sothebys.com.

Please be aware that Sotheby’s may film auctions or other activities on Sotheby’s premises and that such recordings may be transmitted over the Internet via Sotheby’s website and other online platforms. Online and telephone bids may be recorded.

TERMS OF GUARANTEE

As set forth below and in the Conditions of Sale, for all lots Sotheby’s guarantees that the authorship, period, culture or origin (collectively, “Authorship”) of each lot in this catalogue is as set out in the BOLD or CAPITALIZED type heading in the catalogue description of the lot, as amended by oral or written salesroom notes or announcements. Purchasers should refer to the Glossary of Terms, if any, for an explanation of the terminology used in the Bold or Capitalized type heading and the extent of the Guarantee. Sotheby’s makes no warranties whatsoever, whether express or implied, with respect to any material in the catalogue other than that appearing in the Bold or Capitalized heading and subject to the exclusions below.

In the event Sotheby’s in its reasonable opinion deems that the conditions of the Guarantee have been satisfied, it shall refund to the original purchaser of record the hammer price and applicable Buyer’s Premium paid for the lot by the original purchaser of record.

This Guarantee is provided for a period of five (5) years from the date of the relevant auction, is solely for the benefit of the original purchaser of record at the auction and may not be transferred to any third party. To be able to claim under this Guarantee of Authorship, the original purchaser of record must: (i) notify Sotheby’s in writing within three (3) months of receiving any information that causes the original purchaser of record to question the accuracy of the Bold or Capitalized type heading, specifying the lot number, date of the auction at which it was purchased and the reasons for such question; and (ii) return the Lot to Sotheby’s at the original selling location in the same condition as at the date of sale to the original purchaser of record and be able to transfer good title to the Lot, free from any third party claims arising after the date of such sale.

Sotheby’s has discretion to waive any of the above requirements. Sotheby’s may require the original purchaser of record to obtain at the original purchaser of record’s cost the reports of two independent and recognized experts in the field, mutually acceptable to Sotheby’s and the original purchaser of record. Sotheby’s shall not be bound by any reports produced by the original purchaser of record, and reserves the right to seek additional expert advice at its own expense. It is specifically understood and agreed that the rescission of a sale and the refund of the original purchase price paid (the successful hammer price, plus the buyer’s premium) is exclusive and in lieu of any other remedy which might otherwise be available as a matter of law, or in equity. Sotheby’s and the Consignor shall not be liable for any incidental or consequential damages incurred or claimed, including without limitation, loss of profits or interest.

ADDITIONAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR ONLINE BIDDING

The following terms and conditions (the “Online Terms”) provide important information related to online bidding on sothebys.com or through the Sotheby’s App, or on any other online platform through which bidding may be made available (“Online Platforms”).

These Conditions are in addition to and subject to the same law and our standard terms and conditions of sale, including the authenticity guarantee and any other terms and are not intended in any way to replace them. By participating in this sale via any Online Platform, you acknowledge that you are bound by the Conditions of Sale applicable in the relevant sale and by these additional Conditions.

1. For certain sales, bidders are welcome to submit bids in advance of the live auction (“Advance Bids”) through the Online Platforms. In order to do so, you must register an account with Sotheby’s and provide requested information. You may bid at or above the starting bid displayed on the Online Platforms. Please note that we reserve the right to lower the starting bid prior to the start of the live auction.

For sales where you can place Advance Bids, you may also input a maximum bid which, upon confirmation, will be executed automatically up to this predefined maximum value in response to other bids including bids placed by Sotheby’s on behalf of the seller, up to the amount of the reserve (if applicable). Please note that reserves may be set at any time before the start of the live auction and your maximum bid may be executed against the reserve once such reserve is set.

The current leading bid will be visible to all bidders; the value and status of your maximum bid will be visible only to you, unless it is the leading bid. If the status of your bid changes, you will receive notifications via email and push (if you have the Sotheby’s App installed) leading up to the live auction. You may raise your maximum bid at any time in advance of the live auction. Once the live auction begins, the auctioneer will open bidding at the current leading bid. The system will continue to bid on your behalf up to your predetermined maximum bid, or you may continue to bid via the Online Platforms during the live auction at the next increment. Upon the closing of each lot, you will receive another email and push notification indicating whether you have won or lost each lot on which you have placed a bid.

By placing Advance Bids on the Online Platforms, you accept and agree that any such bids are final, that you will not be permitted to retract your bid, and that, should your bid be successful, you irrevocably agree to pay the full purchase price, including buyer’s premium and all applicable taxes and other applicable charges. You may nevertheless lower your maximum bid leading up to the live auction by contacting the Bids Department at +1 212 606 7414, except that you may not lower it to a level lower than the current leading bid.

2. Once it commences, a live auction is by its nature fast-moving and bidding may progress very quickly. The procedure for placing bids during the live auction is therefore a one-step process; as soon as the “Place Bid” button is clicked, a bid is submitted. By bidding online, you accept and agree that bids submitted in this way are final and that you will not under any circumstances be permitted to amend or retract your bid. If a successful bid is sent to Sotheby’s from your computer, electronic or mobile device, you irrevocably agree to pay the full purchase price, including buyer’s premium and all applicable taxes and other applicable charges.

3. The next bidding increment is shown for your convenience. The auctioneer has discretion to vary Increments for bidders in the auction room and on the telephone, but bidders using Online Platforms may not be able to place a bid in an amount other than a whole bidding increment. All bidding for this sale will be in U.S. Dollars, in respect of New York sales, in Pounds Sterling, in respect of London sales, or in Hong Kong Dollars, in respect of Hong Kong sales, and online bidders will not be able to see the currency conversion board that may be displayed in the auction room.

4. The record of sale kept by Sotheby’s will be taken as absolute and final in all disputes. In the event of a discrepancy between any online records or messages provided to you and the record of sale kept by Sotheby’s, the record of sale will govern.

5. Online bidders are responsible for making themselves aware of all salesroom notices and announcements, which will be accessible on the Online Platforms.

6. Sotheby’s reserves the right to refuse or revoke permission to bid via Online Platforms and to remove bidding privileges during a sale.

7. The purchase information shown in the “My Bids” section of the Sotheby’s App and in the “Account Activity” section of “My Account” on Sothebys.com is provided for your convenience only. Successful bidders will be notified and invoiced after the sale. In the event of any discrepancy between the online purchase information and the invoice sent to you by Sotheby’s following the sale, the invoice prevails. Terms and conditions for payment and collection of property remain the same regardless of how the winning bid was submitted.

8. Sotheby’s offers online bidding as a convenience to our clients. Sotheby’s is not responsible for any errors or failures to execute bids placed online, including, without limitation, errors or failures caused by (i) a loss of connection to the internet or to the online bidding software by either Sotheby’s or the client; (ii) a breakdown or problems with the online bidding software; or (iii) a breakdown or problems with a client’s internet connection, computer or electronic device. Sotheby’s is not responsible for any failure to execute an online bid or for any errors or omissions in connection therewith.

9. Online bidding will be recorded.

10. In the event of any conflict between these Online Terms and Sotheby’s Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee, Sotheby’s Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee will control.

BUYING AT AUCTION

The following will help in understanding the auction buying process as well as some of the terms and symbols commonly used in an auction catalogue. All bidders should read the Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee in this catalogue, as well as the Glossary or any other notices. By bidding at auction, bidders are bound by the Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee, as amended by any oral announcement or posted notices, which together form the sale contract among Sotheby’s, the seller (consignor) of the lot and any bidders, including the successful bidder (purchaser).

1. SYMBOL KEY

▣ Reserves

Unless indicated by a box (▣), all lots in this catalogue are offered subject to a reserve. A reserve is the confidential minimum hammer price at which a lot will be sold. The reserve is generally set at a percentage of the low estimate and will not exceed the low estimate of the lot. If any lots in the catalogue are offered without reserve, such lots will be designated by a box (▣). If every lot in a catalogue is offered without a reserve, the Conditions of Sale will so state and this symbol will not be used for each lot.

○ Guaranteed Property

The seller of lots with this symbol has been guaranteed a minimum price from one auction or a series of auctions. This guarantee may be provided by Sotheby’s or jointly by Sotheby’s and a third party. Sotheby’s and any third parties providing a guarantee jointly with Sotheby’s benefit financially if a guaranteed lot is sold successfully and may incur a loss if the sale is not successful. A third party providing a guarantee jointly with Sotheby’s may provide an irrevocable bid, or otherwise bid, on the guaranteed property. If the Guaranteed Property symbol for a lot is not included in the printing of the auction catalogue, a pre-sale or pre-lot announcement will be made indicating that there is a guarantee on the lot.

△ Property in which Sotheby’s has an Ownership Interest

Lots with this symbol indicate that Sotheby’s owns the lot in whole or in part or has an economic interest in the lot equivalent to an ownership interest.

≡ Irrevocable Bids

Lots with this symbol indicate that a party has provided Sotheby’s with an irrevocable bid on the lot that will be executed during the sale at a value that ensures that the lot will sell. The irrevocable bidder, who may bid in excess of the irrevocable bid, may be compensated for providing the irrevocable bid by receiving a contingent fee, a fixed fee or both. From time to time, a Sotheby’s shareholder may be an irrevocable bidder. If the irrevocable bidder is the successful bidder, any contingent fee, fixed fee or both (as applicable) for providing the irrevocable bid may be netted against the irrevocable bidder’s obligation to pay the full purchase price for the lot and the purchase price reported for the lot shall be net of any such fees. From time to time, Sotheby’s may enter into irrevocable bid agreements that cover multiple lots. In such instances, the compensation Sotheby’s will pay the irrevocable bidder is allocated to the lots for which the irrevocable bidder is not the successful purchaser. Under such circumstances, the total compensation to the irrevocable bidder will not exceed the total buyer’s premium and other amounts paid to Sotheby’s in respect of any lots for which the irrevocable bidder is not the successful bidder. If the irrevocable bid is not secured until after the printing of the auction catalogue, Sotheby’s will notify bidders that there is an irrevocable bid on the lot by one or more of the following means: a pre-sale or pre-lot announcement, by written notice at the auction or by including an irrevocable bid symbol in the e-catalogue for the sale prior to the auction. From time to time, Sotheby’s or any affiliated company may provide the irrevocable bidder with financing related to the irrevocable bid. In addition, from time to time, an irrevocable bidder may have knowledge of the amount of a guarantee. If the irrevocable bidder is advising anyone with respect to the lot, Sotheby’s requires the irrevocable bidder to disclose his or her financial interest in the lot. If an agent is advising you or bidding on your behalf with respect to a lot identified as being subject to an irrevocable bid, you should request that the agent disclose whether or not he or she has a financial interest in the lot.

∨ Interested Parties

Lots with this symbol indicate that parties with a direct or indirect interest in the lot may be bidding on the lot, including (i) the beneficiary of an estate selling the lot, or (ii) the joint owner of a lot. If the interested party is the successful bidder, they will be required to pay the full Buyer’s Premium. In certain instances, interested parties may have knowledge of the reserve. In the event the interested party’s possible participation in the sale is not known until after the printing of the auction catalogue, a pre-sale or pre-lot announcement will be made indicating that interested parties may be bidding on the lot.

◎ Restricted Materials

Lots with this symbol have been identified at the time of cataloguing as containing organic material which may be subject to restrictions regarding import or export. The information is made available for the convenience of bidders and the absence of the symbol is not a warranty that there are no restrictions regarding import or export of the Lot; bidders should refer to Condition 12 of the Conditions of Sale. Please also refer to the section on Endangered Species in the information on Buying at Auction.

II Monumental

Lots with this symbol may, in our opinion, require special handling or shipping services due to size or other physical considerations. Bidders are advised to inspect the lot and to contact Sotheby’s prior to the sale to discuss any specific shipping requirements.

🔍 Premium Lot

In order to bid on “Premium Lots” (in print catalogue or  in eCatalogue) you must complete the required Premium Lot pre-registration application. You must arrange for Sotheby’s to receive your pre-registration application at least three working days before the sale. Please bear in mind that we are unable to obtain financial references over weekends or public holidays. Sotheby’s decision whether to accept any pre-registration application shall be final. If your application is accepted, you will be provided with a special paddle number. If all lots in the catalogue are “Premium Lots”, a Special Notice will be included to this effect and this symbol will not be used.

2. BEFORE THE AUCTION

Bidding in advance of the live auction. For certain sales, if you are unable to attend the auction in person, and wish to bid in advance of the live auction, you may do so on Sothebys.com or the Sotheby’s App. In order to do so, you must register an account with Sotheby’s and provide requested information. Once you have done so, navigate to your desired lot, and click the “Place Bid” button. You may bid at or above the starting bid displayed on the Online Platforms. Please note that we reserve the right to lower the starting bid prior to the start of the live auction. You may also input your maximum bid which, upon confirmation, will be executed automatically up to this predefined maximum value, in response to other bids, including bids placed by Sotheby’s on behalf of the seller, up to the amount of the reserve (if applicable). The current leading bid will be visible to all bidders; the value and status of your maximum bid will be visible only to you. If the status of your bid changes, you will receive notifications via email and push (if you have the Sotheby’s App installed) leading up to the live auction. You may raise your maximum bid at any time in advance of the live auction. Once the live auction begins, the auctioneer will open bidding at the current leading bid. The system will continue to bid on your behalf up to your predetermined maximum bid, or you may continue to bid via the Online Platforms during the live auction at the next increment. Upon the closing of each lot in the live auction, you will receive another email and push notification indicating whether you have won or lost each lot on which you have placed a bid.

The Catalogue A catalogue prepared by Sotheby’s is published for every scheduled live auction and is available prior to the sale date. The catalogue will help familiarize you with property being offered at the designated auction. Catalogues may be purchased at Sotheby’s or by subscription in any categories. For information, please call +1 212 606 7000 or visit sothebys.com. Prospective bidders should also consult sothebys.com for the most up to date cataloguing of the property in this catalogue.

Estimates Each lot in the catalogue is given a low and high estimate, indicating to a prospective buyer a range in which the lot might sell at auction. When possible, the estimate is based on previous auction records of comparable pieces. The estimates are determined several months before a sale and are therefore subject to change upon further research of the property, or to reflect market conditions or currency fluctuations. Estimates should not be relied upon as a representation or prediction of actual selling prices.

Provenance In certain circumstances, Sotheby’s may print in the catalogue the history of ownership of a work of art if such information contributes to scholarship or is otherwise well known and assists in distinguishing the work of art. However, the identity of the seller or previous owners may not be disclosed for a variety of reasons. For example, such information may be excluded to accommodate a seller’s request for confidentiality or because the identity of prior owners is unknown given the age of the work of art.

Specialist Advice Prospective bidders may be interested in specific information not included in the catalogue description of a lot. For additional information, please contact either a Sotheby’s specialist in charge of the sale (all of whom are listed in the front of the catalogue), or Sotheby’s Client Services Department. You may also request a condition report from the specialist in charge.

The Exhibition An exhibition of the auction property will be held the week prior to the auction on the days listed in the front of the catalogue. There you will have the opportunity to view, inspect and evaluate the property yourself, or with the help of a Sotheby’s specialist.

Salesroom Notices Salesroom notices amend the catalogue description of a lot after our catalogue has gone to press. They are posted in the viewing galleries and salesroom or are announced by the auctioneer. Salesroom notices are also posted on the Online Platform for those bidding online. Please take note of them.

Registration Sotheby’s may require such necessary financial references, guarantees, deposits and/or such other security, in its absolute discretion, as security for your bid. If you are not successful on any lot, Sotheby’s will arrange for a refund (subject to any right of set off) of the deposit amount paid by you without interest within 14 working days of the date of the sale. Any exchange losses or fees associated with the refund shall be borne by you. Registration to bid on Premium Lots must be done at least 3 business days prior to the sale.

3. DURING THE AUCTION

The Auction Auctions are open to the public without any admission fee or obligation to bid. The auctioneer introduces the objects for sale — known as “lots” — in numerical order as listed in the catalogue. Unless otherwise noted in the catalogue or by an announcement at the auction, Sotheby’s acts as agent on behalf of the seller and does not permit the seller to bid on his or her own property. It is important for all bidders to know that the auctioneer may open the bidding on any lot by placing a bid on behalf of the seller. The auctioneer may further bid on behalf of the seller, up to the amount of the reserve, by placing responsive or consecutive bids for a lot. The auctioneer will not place consecutive bids on behalf of the seller above the reserve.

Bidding in Person If you would like to bid in person, you may register for a paddle prior to the live auction through the Online Platform or by contacting the Bids Department. Alternatively, you may register for a paddle upon entering the salesroom. The paddle is numbered so as to identify you to the auctioneer. To register, you will need a form of identification such as a driver’s license, a passport or some other type of government issued identification. If you are a first-time bidder, you will also be asked for your address, phone number and signature in order to create your account. If you are bidding for someone else, you will need to provide a letter from that person authorizing you to bid on that person’s behalf. Issuance of a bid paddle is in Sotheby’s sole discretion.

Once the first bid has been placed, the auctioneer asks for higher bids, in increments determined by the auctioneer. To place your bid, simply raise your paddle until the auctioneer acknowledges you. You will know when your bid has been acknowledged; the auctioneer will not mistake a random gesture for a bid.

If you wish to register to bid on a Premium Lot, please see the paragraph above.

All lots sold will be invoiced to the name and address in which the paddle has been registered and cannot be transferred to other names and addresses. Sotheby’s reserves the right to refuse to accept payment from a source other than the buyer of record.

Advance Bidding For certain sales, bidders are welcome to submit bids in advance of the live auction (“Advance Bids”) through the Online Platforms. For these sales, if you submit an “Advance Bid” (as described above in “BEFORE THE AUCTION”), and your bid is not executed up to its maximum value before the auction begins, your bid will continue to be executed automatically on your behalf during the live auction up to your predetermined maximum bid. You may also continue to bid via the Online Platforms at the next increment above your maximum bid.

Telephone Bidding In some circumstances, we offer the ability to place bids by telephone live to a Sotheby’s representative on the auction floor. Please contact the Bid Department prior to the sale to make arrangements or to answer any questions you may have. Telephone bids are accepted only at Sotheby’s discretion and at the caller’s risk. Calls may also be recorded at Sotheby’s discretion. By bidding on the telephone, prospective buyers consent thereto.

Live Online Bidding If you cannot attend the live auction, it may be possible to bid live online via the Online Platforms for selected sales. For information about registering to bid on sothebys.com or through the Sotheby’s App, please see www.sothebys.com. Bidders utilizing any online platform are subject to the Online Terms as well as the relevant Conditions of Sale. Online bidding may not be available for Premium Lots.

Employee Bidding Sotheby’s employees may bid in a Sotheby’s auction only if the employee does not know the reserve and if the employee fully complies with Sotheby’s internal rules governing employee bidding.

US Economic Sanctions The United States maintains economic and trade sanctions against targeted foreign countries, groups and organizations. There may be restrictions on the import into the United States of certain items originating in sanctioned countries, including Cuba, Iran, North Korea and Sudan. The purchaser’s inability to import any item into the US or any other country as a result of these or other restrictions shall not justify cancellation or rescission of the sale or any delay in payment. Please check with the specialist department if you are uncertain as to whether a lot is subject to these import restrictions, or any other restrictions on importation or exportation.

Hammer Price and the Buyer’s Premium For lots which are sold, the last price for a lot as announced by the auctioneer is the hammer price. A buyer’s premium will be added to the hammer price and is payable by the purchaser as part of the total purchase price. The buyer’s premium will be the amount stated in the Conditions of Sale.

Currency Board As a courtesy to bidders, a currency board is operated in many salesrooms. It displays the lot number and current bid in both U.S. dollars and foreign currencies. Exchange rates are approximations based on recent exchange rate information and should not be relied upon as a precise invoice amount. Sotheby’s assumes no responsibility for any error or omission in foreign or United States currency amounts shown.

Results Sale results are available on sothebys.com and on the Sotheby’s App.

International Auctions If you need assistance placing bids, obtaining condition reports or receiving auction results for a Sotheby’s sale outside the United States, please contact our International Client Services Department.

4. AFTER THE AUCTION

Payment If your bid is successful, you can go directly to Post Sale Services to make payment arrangements. Otherwise, your invoice will be mailed to you. The final price is determined by adding the buyer’s premium to the hammer price on a per-lot basis. Sales tax, where applicable, will be charged on the entire amount. Payment is due in full immediately after the sale. However, under certain circumstances, Sotheby’s may, in its sole discretion, offer bidders an extended payment plan. Such a payment plan may provide an economic benefit to the bidder. Credit terms should be requested at least one business day before the sale. However, there is no assurance that an extended payment plan will be offered. Please contact Post Sale Services or the specialist in charge of the sale for information on credit arrangements for a particular lot. Please note that Sotheby’s will not accept payments for purchased lots from any party other than the purchaser, unless otherwise agreed between the purchaser and Sotheby’s prior to the sale.

Payment by Cash It is against Sotheby’s general policy to accept payments in the form of cash or cash equivalents.

Payment by Credit Cards Sotheby’s accepts payment by credit card for Visa, MasterCard, and American Express only. Credit card payments may not exceed $50,000 per sale. Payment by credit card may be made (a) online at https://www.sothebys.com/en/invoice-payment.html, (b) through the Sotheby’s App, (c) by calling in to Post Sale Services at +1 212 606 7444, or (d) in person at Sotheby’s premises at the address noted in the catalogue.

Payment by Check Sotheby’s accepts personal, certified, banker’s draft and cashier’s checks drawn in US Dollars (made payable to Sotheby’s). While personal and company checks are accepted, property will not be released until such checks have cleared, unless you have a pre-arranged check acceptance agreement. Application for check clearance can be made through the Post Sale Services.

Certified checks, banker’s drafts and cashier’s checks are accepted at Sotheby’s discretion and provided they are issued by a reputable financial institution governed by anti-money laundering laws. Instruments not meeting these requirements will be treated as “cash equivalents” and subject to the constraints noted in the prior paragraph titled “Payment By Cash”.

Payment by Wire Transfer To pay for a purchase by wire transfer, please refer to the payment instructions on the invoice provided by Sotheby’s or contact Post Sale Services to request instructions.

Sales and Use Tax New York sales tax is charged on the hammer price, buyer’s premium and any other applicable charges on any property picked up or delivered in New York State, regardless of the state or country in which the purchaser resides or does business. Purchasers who wish to use their own shipper who is not a considered a “common carrier” by the New York Department of Taxation and Finance will be charged New York sales tax on the entire charge regardless of the destination of the property. Please refer to “Information on Sales and Use Tax Related to Purchases at Auction” in the back of the catalogue.

Collection and Delivery

Post Sale Services
+ 1 212 606 7444
FAX: + 1 212 606 7043
uspostsaleservices@sothebys.com

Once your payment has been received and cleared, property may be released. Unless other-wise agreed by Sotheby’s, all purchases must be removed by the 30th calendar day following a sale.

Shipping Services Sotheby’s offers a comprehensive shipping service to meet all of your requirements. If you received a shipping quotation or have any questions about the services we offer please contact us.

Collecting your Property As a courtesy to purchasers who come to Sotheby’s to collect property, Sotheby’s will assist in the packing of lots, although Sotheby’s may, in the case of fragile articles, choose not to pack or otherwise handle a purchase.

If you are using your own shipper to collect property from Sotheby’s, please provide a letter of authorization and kindly instruct your shipper that they must provide a Bill of Lading prior to collection. Both documents must be sent to Post Sale Services prior to collection.

The Bill of Lading must include: the purchaser’s full name, the full delivery address including the street name and number, city and state or city and country, the sale and lot number.

Sotheby’s will contact your shipper within 24 hours of receipt of the Bill of Lading to confirm the date and time that your property can be collected. Property will not be released without this confirmation and your shipper must bring the same Bill of Lading that was faxed to Sotheby’s when collecting. All property releases are subject to the receipt of cleared funds.

Please see the Conditions of Sale for further details.

Endangered Species Certain property sold at auction, for example, items made of or incorporating plant or animal materials such as coral, crocodile, ivory, whalebone, tortoiseshell, rhinoceros horn, rosewood, etc., irrespective of age or value, may require a license or certificate prior to exportation and additional licenses or certificates upon importation to another country. Sotheby’s suggests that buyers check on their government wildlife import requirements prior to placing a bid. Please note that the ability to obtain an export license or certificate does not ensure the ability to obtain an import license or certificate in another country, and vice versa. It is the purchaser’s responsibility to obtain any export or import licenses and/or certificates as well as any other required documentation. In the case of denial of any export or import license or of delay in the obtaining of such licenses, the purchaser is still responsible for making on-time payment of the total purchase price for the lot.

Although licenses can be obtained to export some types of endangered species, other types may not be exported at all, and other types may not be resold in the United States. Upon request, Sotheby’s is willing to assist the purchaser in attempting to obtain the appropriate licenses and/or certificates. However, there is no assurance that an export license or certificate can be obtained. Please check with the specialist department or the Shipping Department if you are uncertain as to whether a lot is subject to these export/import license and certificate requirements, or any other restrictions on exportation.

The Art Loss Register As part of Sotheby’s efforts to support only the legitimate art market and to combat the illegitimate market in stolen property, Sotheby’s has retained the Art Loss Register to check all uniquely identifiable items offered for sale in this catalogue that are estimated at more than the equivalent of US$1,500 against the Art Loss Register’s computerized database of objects reported as stolen or lost. The Art Loss Register is pleased to provide purchasers with a certificate confirming that a search has been made. All inquiries regarding search certificates should be directed to The Art Loss Register, First Floor, 63-66 Hatten Garden, London EC1N 8LE or by email at artloss@artloss.com. The Art Loss Register does not guarantee the provenance or title of any catalogued item against which they search, and will not be liable for any direct or consequential losses of any nature howsoever arising. This statement and the ALR’s service do not affect your rights and obligations under the Conditions of Sale applicable to the sale.

SELLING AT AUCTION

If you have property you wish to sell, Sotheby’s team of specialists and client services representatives will assist you through the entire process. Simply contact the appropriate specialist (specialist departments are listed in the back of this catalogue), General Inquiries Department or a Sotheby’s regional office representative for suggestions on how best to arrange for evaluation of your property.

Property Evaluation There are three general ways evaluation of property can be conducted:

(1) In our galleries
You may bring your property directly to our galleries where our specialists will give you auction estimates and advice. There is no charge for this service, but we request that you telephone ahead for an appointment. Inspection hours are 9:30 am to 5 pm, Monday through Friday.

(2) By photograph
If your property is not portable, or if you are not able to visit our galleries, you may bring in or send a clear photograph of each item. If you have a large collection, a representative selection of photographs will do. Please be sure to include the dimensions, artist’s signature or maker’s mark, medium, physical condition and any other relevant information. Our specialists will provide a free preliminary auction estimate subject to a final estimate upon first-hand inspection.

(3) In your home
Evaluations of property can also be made in your home. The fees for such visits are based on the scope and diversity of property, with travel expenses additional. These fees may be rebated if you consign your property for sale at Sotheby’s. If there is considerable property in question, we can arrange for an informal “walkthrough.”

Once your property has been evaluated, Sotheby’s representatives can then help you determine how to proceed should you wish to continue with the auction process. They will provide information regarding sellers’ commission rates and other charges, auction venue, shipping and any further services you may require.

INFORMATION ON SALES AND USE TAX RELATED TO PURCHASES AT AUCTION

To better assist our clients, we have prepared the following information on Sales and Use Tax related to property purchased at auction.

Why Sotheby’s Collects Sales Tax
Virtually all State Sales Tax Laws require a corporation to register with the State’s Tax Authorities and collect and remit sales tax if the corporation either establishes or maintains physical or economic presence within the state. In the states that impose sales tax, Tax Laws require an auction house, with such presence in the state, to register as a sales tax collector, and remit sales tax collected to the state. New York sales tax is charged on the hammer price, buyer’s premium and any other applicable charges on any property picked up or delivered in New York, regardless of the state or country in which the purchaser resides or does business.

Where Sotheby’s Collects Sales Tax
Sotheby’s is currently registered to collect sales tax in the following states: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. For any property collected or received by the purchaser in New York City, such property is subject to sales tax at the existing New York State and City rate of 8.875%.

Sotheby’s Arranged Shipping If the property is delivered into any state in which Sotheby’s is registered, Sotheby’s is required by law to collect and remit the appropriate sales tax in effect in the state where the property is delivered.

Client Arranged Shipping Property collected from Sotheby’s New York premises by a common carrier hired by the purchaser for delivery at an address outside of New York is not subject to New York Sales Tax, but if the property is delivered into any state in which Sotheby’s is registered, Sotheby’s is required by law to collect and remit the appropriate sales tax in effect in the state where the property is delivered. New York State recognizes shippers such as the United States Postal Service, United Parcel Service, FedEx, or the like as “common carriers”. If a purchaser hires a shipper other than a common carrier to pick up property, Sotheby’s will collect New York sales tax at a rate of 8.875% regardless of the ultimate destination of the goods. If a purchaser utilizes a freight-forwarder who is registered with the Transportation Security Administration (“TSA”) to deliver property outside of the United States, no sales tax would be due on this transaction.

Where Sotheby’s is Not Required to Collect Sales Tax Sotheby’s is not required to collect sales tax on property delivered to states other than those listed above. If the property is delivered to a state where Sotheby’s is not required to collect sales tax, it is the responsibility of the purchaser to self-assess any sales or use tax and remit it to taxing authorities in that state.

Sotheby’s is not required to collect sales tax for property delivered to the purchaser outside of the United States.

Restoration and Other Services Regardless of where the property is subsequently transported, if any framing or restoration services are performed on the property in New York, it is considered to be a delivery of the property to the purchaser in New York, and Sotheby’s will be required to collect the 8.875% New York sales tax.

Certain Exemptions Most states that impose sales taxes allow for specified exemptions to the tax. For example, a registered re-seller such as a registered art dealer may purchase without incurring a tax liability, and Sotheby’s is not required to collect sales tax from such re-seller. The art dealer, when re-selling the property, may be required to charge sales tax to its client, or the client may be required to self-assess sales or use tax upon acquiring the property.

Local Tax Advisors As sales tax laws vary from state to state, Sotheby’s recommends that clients with questions regarding the application of sales or use taxes to property purchased at auction seek tax advice from their local tax advisors.

IMPORTANT NOTICES

Property Collection All property that is sold, has bought in, or is to be returned to the consignor will remain at 1334 York Avenue for collection. Exceptions to this policy may include property considered to be oversized and monumental works of art. Invoices and statements will indicate your property’s location. Refer to our Property Collection information at www.sothebys.com/pickup.

Property Payment All property must be paid in full before collection or release from any Sotheby’s location. Payment must be made through Sotheby’s New York Post Sale Services by way of our acceptable forms of payment methods mentioned on your invoice. To arrange for payment, please contact Post Sale Services at +1 212 606 7444 or USPostSaleServices@sothebys.com. Payment will not be accepted at the offsite facility. Dealers and resale clients should fill out the appropriate forms where applicable or contact Post Sale Services with any questions.

Loss and Liability Unless otherwise agreed by Sotheby’s, all sold property must be removed from any of our premises (including the SLP Warehouse) by the buyer at their expense no later than 30 calendar days following its sale. Buyers are reminded that Sotheby’s liability for loss or damage to sold property shall cease no later than 30 calendar days after the date of the auction.

Collection & Shipping Where applicable, the SLP Warehouse requires 24 hours advanced notice for collection of property. Please arrange this through our Post Sale Services team at +1 212 606 7444 or USPostSaleServices@sothebys.com.

For in-person collections at our offsite location, please alert Post Sale Services of your proposed collection date, ensure that all outstanding invoices have been paid for, and that you or your agent have the appropriate photo identification upon arrival.

If you are using your own shipper to collect property, please provide a letter of authorization and instruct your shipper to email their bill of lading to bills@sothebys.com and ensure the correct collection location is specified.

Sotheby's can arrange for delivery of your property through one of our contracted vendors or can coordinate pick up at our offsite location with you or your shipper directly. Please contact Post Sale Services at +1 212 606 7444 or USPostSaleServices@sothebys.com to start your collection process.

Important Notice Regarding Packing

As a courtesy to purchasers who come to Sotheby's to pick up property, Sotheby's will assist in packing framed paintings. Sotheby's is unable to remove canvases off stretchers or to roll works on paper. Purchasers are advised to contact an independent painting restorer to pack works in this manner.

Notice Regarding Endangered Species

• Property containing certain endangered species will require a CITES license upon export from the U.S. and may require an additional license upon import into another country. There is no guarantee that such licenses will be granted. In the case of denial of any license or of delay in obtaining such licenses, the purchaser remains responsible for making on-time payment for the total purchase price.

Important Notice Regarding Clocks and Watches

Prospective buyers should satisfy themselves by personal inspection as to the condition of each lot. If the prospective buyer is not able to inspect the piece, as a courtesy to our clients, we are pleased to provide an opinion of the condition of the property on request. However, since we are not professional clock and watch restorers, any statement of opinion listed is purely subjective and is not a statement of fact. Condition reports may not specify all mechanical replacements or imperfections to the movement, case, dial, pendulum, separate base(s) or dome or any other replacements or additions to the lot. The absence of a condition report or the absence of a reference to damage in the catalogue does not imply that the lot is in good condition, working order or free from restoration or repair.

Watches in water-resistant cases have been opened to examine movements but no warranties are made that the watches are currently water-resistant.

Please note that we do not guarantee the authenticity of any individual component parts, such as wheels, hands, crowns, crystals, screws, bracelets and leather bands, since subsequent repairs and restoration work may have resulted in the replacement of original parts.

In addition, certain manufacturers will not service or repair pieces if all the component parts are not original to the piece. The refusal of a manufacturer to service or repair a piece on this basis does not constitute grounds to rescind the sale under the Terms of Guarantee.

Furthermore, in reference to bands, we do not guarantee the material of manufacture. Please be advised that the purchaser will be responsible for complying with any applicable export and import matters, particularly in relation to endangered species and the United States Department of Fish and Wildlife Services.

Important Notice to Prospective Carpet Purchasers

Please note that a license is required to export textiles, rugs and carpets of Iranian origin from the United States. Clients should enquire with the U.S. Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) regarding export requirements. As of August 6, 2018 there is a ban on the importation into the United States of Iranian-origin rugs. Please check with the Furniture Department if you are uncertain as to whether a lot is subject to these restrictions or if you need assistance. Catalogue descriptions of property in this sale indicate, whenever possible, major repairs and damages. This is done to aid prospective bidders, but clients are advised that all carpets should be carefully inspected personally, as what constitutes a major repair or damage may prove to be a matter of personal judgement. If one is unable to view the carpets personally, more detailed condition reports are available by calling the Furniture Department at +1 212 606 7213.

Important Notice for Furniture

As virtually all property in this sale has been subject to use over a considerable period of time, no mention of age cracks, scratches, chips or other minor damages, imperfections or restorations will be made in the individual catalogue entries. Anyone having specific inquiries concerning any particular lot in this sale, should call +1 212 606 7213.

Important Notice for Ceramics

The catalogue descriptions do not include a general indication of repair and damage, and this absence of any comment should not be interpreted as a guarantee of the condition of the lot. All lots are sold "AS IS" as set forth in paragraph 1 of the Conditions of Sale and prospective purchasers are advised that all lots should be viewed personally. Condition reports are available at sothebys.com. Any additional enquiries may be directed to the Ceramics Department at +1 212 894 1442.

Important Notice Regarding Upholstery

Sotheby's is not responsible for any tears, stains, marks, other damage or loss of any interior and/or exterior upholstery and upholstery materials, including, but not limited to, the exterior fabric and interior padding, webbing and springs.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

The following are examples of the terminology used in this catalogue. Please note that all statements made in this catalogue are made subject to the provisions of the Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee printed in this catalogue:

GLOSSARY FOR PAINTINGS

Giovanni Bellini

The work is, in our best judgement, by the named artist. When the artist's forename is not known, a series of asterisks followed by the surname of the artist, whether preceded by an initial or not, indicates that the work is, in our best judgement, by the named artist.

Attributed to Giovanni Bellini

In our opinion, probably a work by the artist but less certainty as to authorship is expressed than in the preceding category.

Studio of Giovanni Bellini

In our opinion, a work by an unknown hand in the studio of the artist which may or may not have been executed under the artist's direction.

Circle of Giovanni Bellini

In our opinion, a work by an as yet unidentified but distinct hand closely associated with the named artist but not necessarily his pupil.

Style of...Follower of Giovanni Bellini

In our opinion, a work by a painter working in the artist's style, contemporary or nearly contemporary, but not necessarily his pupil.

Manner of Giovanni Bellini

In our opinion, a work in the style of the artist and of a later date.

After Giovanni Bellini

In our opinion, a copy of a known work of the artist.

The term signed and/or dated and/or inscribed means that, in our opinion, a signature and/or date and/or inscription are from the hand of the artist.

The term bears a signature and/or a date and/or an inscription means that, in our opinion, a signature and/or date and/or inscription have been added by another hand.

Dimensions are given height before width. Pictures are framed unless otherwise stated.

GLOSSARY FOR SCULPTURE

Bronze Figure of a Woman, Maurice Giraud-Rivière. CIRCA 1925 This heading indicates that the casting was done by the artist or with his direct authorization or supervision.

Bronze Figure of a Woman, After Maurice Giraud-Rivière. CIRCA 1925 This heading indicates the casting was done by another, i.e., artisans at a foundry.

Maurice Giraud-Rivière, Bronze Figure of a Woman. CIRCA 1925 This heading indicates that the casting was done by the artist or with his direct authorization or supervision.

GLOSSARY FOR FURNITURE AND DECORATIONS

Louis XV Ormolu-Mounted Marquetry Commode, MID-18TH CENTURY

This heading, with date included, means that the piece is, in our opinion, of the period indicated with no major alterations or restorations.

Louis XV Ormolu-Mounted Marquetry commode

This heading, without inclusion of the date, indicates that, in our opinion, the piece, while basically of the period, has undergone significant restoration or alteration.

Louis XV Style Ormolu-Mounted Marquetry Commode

The inclusion of the word "style" in the heading indicates that, in our opinion, the piece was made as an intentional reproduction of an earlier style.

GLOSSARY FOR CERAMICS

Meissen Cup and Saucer. CIRCA 1735 This states that the cup and saucer were made at the Meissen factory around the year 1735.

Meissen Cup and a Saucer. CIRCA 1735 Again, this states that the cup and saucer were made at the Meissen factory around 1735, but it also indicates that the cup and saucer may not have been "born" together.

Meissen Cup and Saucer. 1730-50 This states that the cup and saucer were made at the Meissen factory some time between 1730 and 1750.

Meissen Cup and Saucer, DATED 1735

This states that the cup and saucer were made at the Meissen factory, and that the date 1735 appears within the decoration, although it may not be the actual year of manufacture. Only in the case of factories such as Sèvres, Frankenthal and Vienna, which incorporated date letters or numbers into their marks, does the term "Dated" mean the actual year of manufacture.

'Meissen' Cup and Saucer, 19TH CENTURY

This states that the cup and saucer are of Meissen type, and although of the date specified, not necessarily made at the Meissen factory.

Meissen Cup and Saucer This title without a date simply states that the pieces were made at the Meissen factory, but does not specify when, implying that their age is questionable.

GLOSSARY FOR CARPETS

A Tekke Rug, West Turkestan. FIRST QUARTER 20TH CENTURY This attribution and ascribed date indicate that, in our opinion, the carpet is an early 20th Century Turkmen rug with no major alteration or restoration. Please note that while every effort is made to maintain accuracy and consistency in terms of date, the dating of carpets is necessarily inexact, and often a matter of opinion. Therefore, the Terms of Guarantee only apply to the Bold Type Heading and do not apply to our statement of the age of a carpet.

A Daghestan Rug, Northeast Caucasus.

CIRCA 1875 reduced in length, re woven areas. This attribution and ascribed date indicate that, in our opinion, the carpet was woven in the Caucasian district of Daghestan around 1875. It also indicates that the carpet has been altered in length and has major reweaves. The notation of condition in catalogue descriptions is as consistent as possible. However, bidders should read the Important Notice for carpets and note that Sotheby's liability with regard to these comments is limited by the Conditions of Sale printed in the front of the catalogue.

Technical Analysis The technical analyses appearing after descriptions of tribal, village and nomadic pile carpets are provided exclusively as a service for those interested in the structure of pile weavings. Please note that all such technical analyses are qualified statements and are made subject to the Conditions of Sale and Terms of Guarantee printed in the catalogue.

The following abbreviations are employed:

H - Horizontal V - Vertical
S - Clockwise direction of spin
Z - Counter-clockwise direction of spin
Z2S - The spin of the individual strands is clockwise, 2 of these strands are then plied together counter-clockwise to form the yarn. For a thorough description of this method of structural analysis, please refer to David Black, ed., World Rugs and Carpets, London, Robert Adkinson, 1985, pp. 20-21, and Irene Emery, The Primary Structure of Fabrics, New York, The Spiral Press, 1966.

Yarns are spun and plied in either an 'S' or a 'Z' direction

GLOSSARY FOR CHINESE CERAMICS AND WORKS OF ART

Pottery Figure of a Horse, Tang Dynasty

This heading, with date or period included, means that the piece is, in our opinion, of the date or period indicated with no major alterations or replacements unless otherwise indicated in the cataloguing.

With respect to ceramics and sculpture, if, in our opinion, the piece was made at a specific kiln or location, the name of the kiln or location will appear in bold or capital letters, i.e., DING OVOID VASE, SONG DYNASTY. However, if the heading appears as follows, 'DING' OVOID VASE, SONG DYNASTY, this indicates that, in our opinion, the piece is of the Ding type or location, and although of the date specified, not necessarily made at the Ding kiln or location.

Pottery Figure of a Horse, Tang Style

This inclusion of the word "style" indicates that, in our opinion, either the piece (i) while basically of the period indicated, has undergone significant restoration or alteration, or (ii) was made as an intentional reproduction of an earlier style.

Where a ceramic or work of art bears a signature or seal of an artist or studio, if the heading appears as follows:

By Ma Shaoxuan This work is, in our best judgment, by the named artist.

Attributed to Ma Shaoxuan In our opinion, probably a work by the artist but less certainty as to authorship is expressed than in the preceding category.

Signed Ma Shaoxuan The piece bears the signature or seal of the artist or studio but with no firm attribution as to the hand.
